

NOTES ABOUT THE CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS ISSUE

AZAMAT A. AKBAROV, PhD is a Vice-Rector for Scientific Research and International Relations at the International Burch University. He is an Associate Professor of Applied Linguistics - English Department Chairman of FLTAL Conferences <http://fltal.ibu.edu.ba/> Editor-in-Chief, J-FLTAL <http://www.j-fltal.org/> and the President of the Association for Applied Linguistics in BiH <http://www.aalbih.org/> E-mail address: azamat.akbarov@ibu.edu.ba

CECILIA BEECHER MARTINS is a Lecturer at the English Studies Department of the Faculty of Letters, University of Lisbon and a Researcher at the ULICES where she is a member of the American Studies Research Group and the Narrative Medicine Interdisciplinary Research Project. E-mail address: cbeecher@campus.ul.pt

JOSÉ DUARTE teaches American Studies at the University of Lisbon and is a researcher at ULICES (University Lisbon Centre for English Studies). He is also the author of three poetry books, a chapbook and two children's books. E-mail address: joseaoduarte@gmail.com

EV RIM ERSÖZ KOÇ is a research assistant in the Department of American Culture and literature, Dokuz Eylül University, Turkey. She received her PhD degree in 2011 with a dissertation on the spatiality of apocalypse in American drama. E-mail address: evrim.ersoz@deu.edu.tr

MILICA KONSTANTINOVIĆ graduated from the Department of Dramaturgy at the Faculty of Dramatic Arts in Belgrade. She the author of several radio and theatre dramas and a number of scripts for short films as well as one book. She is currently employed as a lecturer at the Faculty of Drama and Film Art at the Sinergija University in Bijeljina, BIH.

E-mail address: mkonstantinovic@gmail.com

JELENA MATIĆ, MA, works as an assistant lecturer at the Faculty of Philology, University of Belgrade. She is a PhD candidate of Applied Linguistics at Hellenic American University in Athens. Her interests are EFL methodology, assessment and teaching young learners.

E-mail address: jelenamatic@sbb.rs

MICHAEL MCATEER is an Associate Professor of the Department of English Literatures and Cultures, Pázmány Péter Catholic University, Budapest. He has published widely in the fields of modern Irish literature and drama, particularly on the writers and dramatists of the Irish Literary Revival at the start of the twentieth century. His most recent essays are: 'Beyond Articulation: Brian Friel, Civil Rights, and the Northern Irish Conflict', Theatre and Human Rights After 1945: Things Unspeakable, ed. Mary Luckhurst and Emilie Morin (Palgrave Macmillan, 2015); 'Celtic and Irish Revival', Oxford Online Bibliographies (Oxford University Press, 2016). His most recent book is Yeats and European Drama (Cambridge University Press, 2010).

E-mail address: michael.mcateer@btk.ppke.hu

JELISAVETA MILOJEVIĆ, M. A., Ph.D. is an Associate Professor of Modern English Language at the University of Belgrade. From 1984 to 1986 she was a visiting member of staff in the English Department of the Arts Faculty of the University of Birmingham and the school of Slavonic and East European Studies of the University of London. She is author of the books: The Grammar of Words (1996), Word and Words of English (2000), Essentials of English Morphology (2003), Shakespeare: Sonnets (2012), and editor of the book Brain and Speech (1996).

E-mail address: jelce@EUnet.rs

ROSSMAN PALFREY, PhD has served as faculty at International Burch University (BiH) and Roosevelt University (USA). He holds a DMA from Northwestern University (USA). Dr. Palfrey is currently Core Studies Faculty at Roosevelt University.

E-mail address: rossmanpalfrey2012@u.northwestern.edu

ANDREA STOJILKOV is a doctoral candidate at Belgrade University's Faculty of Philology. She has presented and published various papers dealing with her areas of interest, namely the interrelation between high art and popular culture, and the transfer of culture-specific items in English-Serbian and Serbian-English translations.

E-mail address: andrea.stojilkov@gmail.com

KAMILA VRANKOVÁ lectures on English and American literature (including courses in drama), children's literature and literary theory in the Pedagogical Faculty of the University of South Bohemia. She specialised in English literature in Charles University, Philosophical Faculty, where she received her Ph.D. degree in 2001. Her research draws on Anglo-American Gothic and Romantic literature and the aesthetic category of the sublime.

E-mail address: kavran@seznam.cz

LEJLA ZEJNILOVIĆ is a teaching assistant at Mediteran University, Faculty of Foreign Languages. Her research interests include modality, syntax, translation and ESP. Lejla Zejnilović is a PhD student at the University of Belgrade, Faculty of Philology.

E-mail address: lejlaz@t-com.me